

JOB OPPORTUNITY

The City of Paynesville is looking for a CHIEF RESILIENCE OFFICER (CRO)

to provide technical leadership on resilience building. The Chief Resilience Officer will be a key Advisor to the Mayor of the Paynesville City Corporation to mainstream resilience in all activities of the city.

He/She will be the primary point of contact for the development, advancement and implementation of the Paynesville's Resilience Strategy and dedicate most of his/her time to the development of resilience planning, integration of existing operations & systems; and implementation of resilience building activities with partners.

The CRO will lead engagement across relevant municipal, central government and community stakeholders.

The ideal candidate will hold 5-10 years of International development, Urban planning, Engineering, Economic development, and or/ Public health related experience. He/she is knowledgeable on Liberia's local and central government structure, as well as public administration and public policy (including key policy areas: environment, local government, community development), climate change science, principles of energy and environmental management and economic development.

Mode of Application:

Interested applicants should read the full job description at goo.gl/wKTCxL and send CV and cover letter to CVs@axishcl.com

